

The Language Experience

Saint-Valentin is here and where better to spend it than the capital of l'amour.

French Club is back after a short break and returns to Little Horkesley for this weeks taste of France. Our last club looked at a jewel of the Midi and the delights that can be found in the South West of the country. Now we jump back north, to the city of lights, just in time for Valentine's.

Paris has long been associated with romance and lovers looking for the ultimate in romantic destinations but what is it about this special city that leaves many to consider it the capital of love?

Take a stroll through the Marais, grab an espresso and watch the world go by on the left bank, lose yourself in the Latin quarter or simply take a trip to the top of the Eiffel Tower at sunset and even the most cold hearted, anti-romanticists amongst us would soon get an idea of why so many couples flock here on February 14th.

So this week join us whilst we take a look at the romantic side of the French and the hidden delights of Paris for the lover in you. As usual there will be daft games to get your French going and role-plays and tasks, as if you were there....

Club Details

The Language Experience French Club is held every Thursday and offers different topics each week to stimulate your use of the French Language.

The weekly theme varies from French festivals to regional specialities but is always designed to give you an insight into the culture of France.

This week we meet in Little Horkesley at the usual time of 7.30pm. The cost is just £8 per person and includes light refreshments, often based on that weeks theme.

The club is a relaxed way to practice speaking French with different people and students of all levels are welcome. The idea is to get stuck in and use the French you already know and we guarantee you will come away more confident and with a better understanding of the language.
